About the Workshop

Social science research is presently passing through a defining time, wherein it is striving for global standards. With a purpose to attain international standards, social science research needs to focus on the philosophy of research and internationally accepted research methods. Today, social sciences are categorized by a diversity of theoretical perspective, methodological strategies, data collection practices and analysis techniques. With the purpose of time social research has come up with new methods and logical approaches. This has created a need to provide training on a continuous basis to researchers in order to equipped them with advance methodological skills.

It has been observed that many young scholars and researchers often depend on their supervisor/guide for even choosing their research problem. They also have difficulty in proceeding further independently because they are either not equipped with research work techniques and tools or do not have proper orientation to use the research methods effectively. This problem is further aggravated by lack of opportunities to refine their skills and to get insights into fresh perspective of research.

Recognizing these needs the Department of Education is organizing one week Workshop on research methods for behavioural sciences from 8th to 14th Jan, 2018. The objective of this Workshop is to help young scholars in acquiring knowledge and understanding of the various aspects of research methods for behavioural sciences. The present workshop will focus on following broad themes.
